

Christo Stemmet – The Accountant

Christo was born and bred in the Western Cape. Childhood memories take him back to when the cousins visited for school holidays, swimming in the river and exploring the mountains.

“ I am happily married to my other half which I met on a dating site 8 years ago and we then got married 2 years later.”

With 25 years experience gained in finance, Christo puts a lot of value on being financially independent with no debts and states that success is applying your skills and knowledge and then see the fruit of your hard labour paying off.

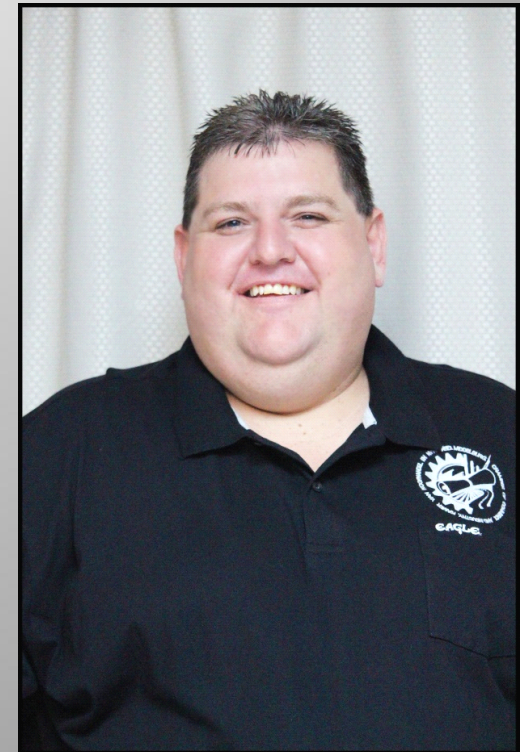

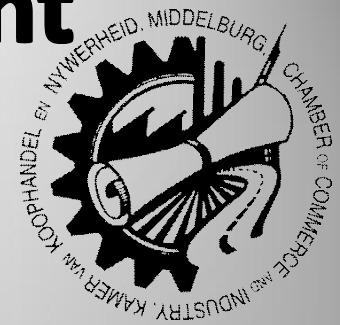

He prides himself in the fact that he is extremely reliable, gets the job done and is always on time.

When Christo is not crunching the numbers, he loves to do gardening, reading up on topics on the internet, visiting farm stalls or interesting shops & cooking and baking. The best holiday for him is anywhere that is quiet with a beach.

When asked what he would be if he could be any animal, Christo would prefer to be an elephant reason being that they get very old and can eat a lot and no one messes with an elephant.

In case of an emergency, Christo is the go to guy. Not necessarily because he will handle the situation, but he will ensure that you have a good laugh.

What we don't know about him is that Christo was very good at tennis, he still wants to learn to play the piano someday & he is a keen karaoke singer .
